

Improving Products

We use products every day which could be improved in various ways. During the summer holiday, choose three products which you think could be made better.

1. Outline the issues with the product (for example ergonomics, function, aesthetics, cost or sustainability).
2. Sketch using a pencil an improved version of the product.
3. Use annotations to explain the ways in which your re-designed product solves the problems with the design.

Each re-design should be a full A4 sheet of paper. Sketches should fully explain how the product is made and what it is made from, along with justifications for your ideas.

Some ideas of the kind of products you may choose to re-design are shown below:
